

Dear prospective sponsor / exhibitor,

The Nuclear Physics Division (NPD) of the European Physical Society (EPS) introduces a new EPS-NPD divisional conference. The Applied Nuclear Physics (ANP) has a particular emphasis on energy, health, space, security, environment, material science, preservation and study of cultural heritage. The ANP conference complements the already existing series of NPD divisional conferences, comprising the European Nuclear Physics Conference (EuNPC) and the Nuclear Physics in Astrophysics (NPA) Conference.

We are pleased to announce that the Applied Nuclear Physics conference (ANP) will be held on September 20 – 25, 2020 in Prague (Faculty of Architecture Czech Technical University), Czech Republic.

The Conference is organized by

- Nuclear Physics Institute of the Czech Academy of Sciences

in cooperation with

- Nuclear Physics Board of EPS,
- Center of Accelerators and Nuclear Analytical Methods of NPI,
- Charles University, Institute of Nuclear and Particle Physics,
- and Faculty of Nuclear Sciences and Physical Engineering, Czech Technical University in Prague.

The main organizer is Tandetron Laboratory of CANAM NPI, Rez, Czech Republic.

We offer opportunity to present your products, instruments and technologies and meet your potential as well as present customers in our exhibition section in the frame of APN conference.

Commercial subjects producing technologies, equipment and instrumentation for ion beams, neutron beams, nuclear technologies in medicine and space technologies, as well as in imaging, analytical methods in material science are highly welcome.
